Among the collections found in the Miscellaneous Drawers in the San Mateo County Record Center is a list of "Cancelled Architects". These are architects who had been licensed to practice in the county in the past, but whose authorization was now revoked. Sometimes the reason is noted with the most frequent note indicating non-payment, but more than a few state death, and a couple state by request. Quite a few give no reason.

The dates cover the time period "before 1904" to 1932.

The list might give a glimmer into the retirement or death of a local architect or give an approximate timetable for movement to another place.

Further information on the architects on this list might be found on the Pacific Coast Architecture Database - Information on buildings and architects in California, Oregon and Washington maintained by the University of Washington.

Ernest Coxhead

Among the entries is one for Charles Beasley who is listed above. The listing indicates he was born in 1827 and died in 1913, the year of non-payment. He was a member of the firm Beasley and son and is known for the Sperry Building in Stockton.

Brothers, Ernest and Almario Coxhead (Coxhead and Coxhead, a partnership) were cancelled in 1908. Both have page long biographies which include links to the buildings they designed.
